

Conclusion: The Futurity of Development Education in Africa

Abstract

In this chapter, the issue of a sustainable future for African-centred Development Education has been addressed. In the process, the various topics covered in this volume vis-à-vis the steps recommended to be followed in planning a sustainable African-centred Development Education have been identified, explored and highlighted, although rather crisply.