officer had an of the State Chinnia Qis referring referring as to settle their internal disputes so that they will receive the usual articles present given & the with intention of c good for him. We told them that we had been prepared to do so for a long time already, but that they tho' their enduring disputes only obedience had so far we were glad as to give them these presents that we were glad they appeared to be sorry. Whereupon they promised they would everything submit to obtain graciously to the reputation made by us with them on 23 August 1460: to which we we added some more articles which they promised to obey and with.

tending to quest them in the name of the Myantse King Zay to offer them a present on his behalf, consisting in merchandise to the value of 6 Bendas gold which Zay is giving them as token of his friendship & in hopes that they will let his people do their business peacefully when they come to the beach & allow them to buy foodstuffs without stealing them like the Fantys. Then we over you to have the apprehension of the Hanta country called into the fort & let our servant Poffat fulfil his charge in your presence: & if it is, as we expect, well word, so must you no have no reason more than the goods against your pays. We will repay you the same in kind: but if the Secundes or Tecorays would rather not share from their own country. You must write to the oficial Comendants how much is due to each town or division, we having given the way ourselves then to use it.

You must especially make the Antas understand that this present is not given them by the Asipantun King to make them march up to war but solely to show them of his friendship: the Elumias, Commays Chawas & Johis having likewise rec'd a present from him. Now you must carefully consider there is our November 16 From Chama (Klok) 15/11.

hama Jlt is to inform Jlt that I have today settled the dispute arisen between the Jabri people & the people of Auatje. The cause (together) is the folly manner. A British priest of the Qr of Huatzi having died a few days ~~ago~~ before, the Solis were called by Huatzi in order to make amends: who having come were presented a quantity of amaranth, with spirits. The young men having become jolly broke out on the market cutting down with their swords like small trees what stood there. These belonged to the Vacanding of Huatzi's Qr who was very disturbed about it & came to help words and then ~~consequently~~ consequently to a stone fight. The canoe men seeing this came to separate them. As they were also galled with stones which they made use of gang 100 kts. - with canoes to approach ~~each other~~ on both sides. At last towards being used by which some were wounded on both sides.

The Solis departed to their town missing some guns & some ^{of Huatzi's} ~~people~~ in the way who complained to me about it. I at once sent a servant ~~drunk~~ ~~to~~ ~~appear~~ with a bag of powder & spirits to Solis to forbid them to commit hostilities & assure them that I ought to settle the matter amicably & to them to come before to settle the powder. But they were all in the bush with their guns & when the Vacanding of Solis, Amorose, called them together showed them the powder & pacified them with the drink.

The next day they appeared here as also Huatzi's people of the Rama Con Norte. Whereupon I inquired carefully into everything found, ^{the} ~~the~~ Jalis, by cutting the trees were the first casualties — He then rejoined into which side had first drawn the swords. Each accused the other & offered to take oath. He then proposed each should drink Ardom, until which they were satisfied — ~~Then~~ ~~He then~~ ~~to~~ ~~begin~~ he had the Ardom fetched from Secunda & order for them to go & drink it at Sturary (as it is no custom here) which wd have been done if Huatje's people had not the same night beaten the Jaffurians on the drum. Their children: which the Jalis had heard and with Vandrogen in the morning had Huatje told they would come off to him: whereupon Huatje came in telling us that he did not know if he could rely on the revolution & he presumed they were more on the side of Jalis & their side & asked to go to his ~~last~~ brother from to avoid further quarrel, whereupon he departed — After which he settled the matter as shown & the enclosed document — which is u.o.s. there being no "protocollen" or record for the year 1765. —

I am much obliged for the trouble it has been pleased to take in sending your servant to enquire about the price when Zooey is asking back. If we can get him back I believe we should then be able to do something. If they should have been paid of the Pauline I am however willing to send messengers to Zooey to tell him and to bring back the and I am well afraid to will overhinder our messengers because I shall send one of his own the situation of affairs. To make him understand that ~~we~~ ^{he} have no share in the difficulties which are besetting him. As that is the contrary we would be glad to see his people in our ports to do trade freely & unhindered. But as Zooey has accepted a poor flag I suggest to Pitt's nation whether it would not be good that we also sent one to said if Zooey accepted one first they would also then accept one.

to Pauline. I believe in using the good thing to try & get him back although it will come to cost something. / I believe, in the light of this boy, genuine Schickelgruber of the Pauline method the 3/4 share should be that I will have nothing more to do with their powers nor their money, & that I shall forbid my officers to sell them powder, if the Ashanti's want to attack them, since they refuse to do what we have expected them to do now willingly: this will perhaps be of good effect. I believe at least that it is possible that the Schickelgruber is a little stork. I don't believe I shall receive favorable news re of Wassa, as I am assured that the people of Wassa & of Effosse have entered into an alliance with the Pauline & that they are now at Pelle for that purpose. If it will come to the Pelle river the day after tomorrow, I will have the honor to bring what is necessary to pass the day well, if I am actually of the view that Zogay will not be willing to see those of Pauline's side.

The Paulines will be more than of the opinion that we cannot acquire this of him. For if he wants our request we are not certain that the Paulines will not afterwards refuse to let him be excluded. As for messenger for us for returning him Wessa I expect he will be tomorrow
