PERSIAN OIL DISPUTE

LAST BATCH OF BRITONS LEAVE

Basra, Friday.

The Anglo-Iranian refinery manager, Mr. K. B. Ross, arriving here with the last party of Britons to leave Persia, said: "We hope to be back there some day. I am convinced that the Persians cannot run the refinery by themselves and they cannot get anybody else to run it for them," quotes Reuter.

Meanwhile, in Abadan, the chairman of the Persian Oil Commission, Hussein Marikki, announced that he has ten German doctors and a Swiss fire prevention expert ready to take over vacant British posts.

Trains to resume

The Railway Administration has just announced a partial resumption of the train services which were curtailed recently because of shortage of coal.

As from Monday, the main line passenger train will run daily in each direction between Kumasi and Sekondi, Kumasi and Accra, Kade and Huni Valley, Prestea and Sekondi and between Awaso and Dunkwa.

A daily service will also leave Koforidua for Accra at 6.2 a.m. and returned at 10.8 a.m. to Koforidua.

ROY WILL FIGHT BRITISH LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPION

By a Special Correspondent

ROY ANKRAH, British Empire Featherweight Champion, is to fight the British Lightweight Champion, Tommy McGovern, over ten rounds. The fight is to take place next month at the Empress Hall, London.

McGovern is reputed to be one of the best boxers in the United Kingdom today. He recently beat Billy Thompson for the British title.

Ankrah recently stopped the Belgian Featherweight champion, Jean Machterlinck, in five rounds. His showing against the Belgian was not as spectacular as when he met and beat Ronnie Clayton, for the British Empire Featherweight championship.

New Lord Mayor

LONDON'S next Lord Mayor will be an Australian — the first time that the Commonwealth has provided the holder of this high office.

He is Sir Leslie Boyce, a barrister, who came to England to fight in the 1914-18 war with the Australian Forces, and stayed on afterwards.

He became a Conservative member of Parliament in 1929, and sat in the House until 1935.

After his election at the traditional Guildhall ceremony, Sir Leslie said: "You have conferred on me the grateful distinction of being the first Lord Mayor of London to come from our Empire overseas".

Messages from London state that Mr. Reg King, the Nottingham promoter, is eager to promote a return bout between Roy Ankrah and Ronnie Clayton. Mr. King is said to be experiencing great difficulty in regard to the purse to be paid to Ankrah. He has offered the Gold Coast lad £2,000 to defend his title, but Roy's manager, Mr. Joe McKean contends that, Roy will take nothing less than £3,000, which was the purse Clayton received when he fought Ankrah. Roy received only

A daily service will also leave Koforidua for Accra at 6.2 a.m. and returned at 10.8 a.m. to Koforidua.

On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, passenger services in each direction will operate between Dunkwa and Kumasi, Nkawkaw and Kumasi, Nkawkaw and Accra and between Insu and Tarkwa.

Digestive Upsets

The distress and discomfort of flatulence, heartburn, indigestion and many other symptoms arising from hyperacidity, can be soothed, relieved and often avoided by taking a dose of De Witt's Antacid Powder. Hyperacidity simply means the formation of excess acid in the stomach and De Witt's Antacid Powder neutralises this quickly and effectively. At the same time, the well-balanced formula gives relief over a long period by protecting the delicate stomach lining.

Progress of state rests with the people.

"The welfare and progress of a state and the well-being of its people depends upon its citizens," said Mr. W. E. Arthur, M.L.A., when he addressed about 300 people here.

He said that the people should undertake the responsibility of checking the high prices of local foodstuffs. "This," he said, "would be one of the fundamental steps which should be taken before agitating for the wholesale reduction of imported goods."

IN SHORT...

Is there any secular evidence for Christ's existence?

Scholars have been able to find only one reference. It is in the works of Cornelius Tacitus, the Roman historian who lived from A.D. 55 to 120. Writing about Nero and the burning of Rome, which occurred in A.D. 64, he relates how Nero tried to put the blame for the fire on to the Christians.

He says: "The originator of that name, one Christus, was executed in the reign of Tiberius by order of the Administrator, Pontius Pilate." Tacitus himself was not a Christian, but believed, as far as we can judge from his writings, in a philosophical theory called "necessitarianism" a kind of fatalism.

Anti-Christians have suggested that the passage in Tacitus is a later Christian interpolation, but this has not been proved.

WHAT IS TREASURE TROVE?

TRADITIONALLY, treasure trove is gold or silver coin, bullion, or other precious objects that have been deliberately concealed by their owners.

In feudal times, all over Europe, the reigning prince was held to be the ultimate owner of all lands, and any treasure found therein became his property. This law was

HOW WAS CHLOROFORM FIRST USED?

FOR ABOUT 50 years before 1839 Sir Humphry Davy had been at work on many inventions, and he was particularly anxious to discover a first-class anaesthetic, but never did so though he found that the gas nitrous oxide eased pain when inhaled.

About this time an American dentist had successfully used ether in minor operations.

Then came Sir James Young Simpson. He was the youngest of seven sons of a Linlithgowshire baker, and was born on June 7, 1811. He graduated at Edinburgh University, and became Professor of Midwifery there in 1839. He desired to find a drug to help women in childbirth, but he wanted something safer than highly inflammable ether, and better than Davy's so-called "laughing-gas."

He experimented with chloroform, which is a chloro-compound produced by mixing chlorine and methane, or by heating bleaching powder with water and alcohol or acetone.

Among a consignment of new drugs he received was a sample of this chloroform, a liquid anaesthetic discovered by the German chemist Liebig but as yet untried on human beings. It had a pleasing smell; Simpson, with great courage, inhaled it, and fell to the floor unconscious.

When he recovered, he knew that he had the anaesthetic he had been looking for. Shortly after this he successfully administered chloroform to a woman in childbirth, and when the child was born he requested that she should be named Anaesthesia. In later years a portrait of her always stood on Simpson's desk. He died on May 6, 1870.

What were the first uses of petrol?

It is perhaps significant that some of the "fiery" miracles which seem to have happened so frequently in mythology, and which also occur in the Bible, took place in a part of the world that is rich in petroleum deposits—the Middle East.

was kept burning perpetually.

The oil-wells at Baku are thought to have been the first to supply petroleum when it was realised it might have a commercial value.

Russian peasants used to land, Germany, France, Spain and Denmark.

England's King Edward the Confessor (1042-1066) laid it down that: "Treasures from the earth belong to the king, unless they are found in a church or cemetery. And if they be found there the gold belongs to the king and half the silver, and half to the church where it shall be found, whoever he be, rich or poor, that finds it." This included "waif cattle, wreck of the sea, whale, sturgeon, and other royal fishes."

Any discovery of buried gold or silver coin, plate, or bullion must legally be the subject of an inquest, if the owner is unknown; if the find is held to be treasure trove it belongs to the Crown, unless it has been found in certain cities possessing ancient charters, when it belongs to the municipality.

LAW'S APPLICATION

The law has never been applied to copper or bronze; and the treasure must have been hidden, not thrown away or abandoned. Nowadays in the United Kingdom, the Crown usually hands over treasure trove to the British Museum, who may reward the finder.

A modified form of the British law relating to treasure trove exists in most democratic countries; it is generally applied by dividing the value equally between the finder and the owner of the land; where this is one and the same person, half the value of the hoard may be allotted to the national treasury.

apostolic parent to members of their flocks; and sometimes priests of the Church of England like to be called by the title.

In many European countries, too, the title is widely and loosely used for almost any member of a religious order. Ab is the Hebrew word for father; in Syria the head of a monastery was called abbas, which later became abbot. The word Pope may also be traced to the Latin papa (father). The early historians of Christianity are often referred to as "the Christian Fathers." "Father" is also the usual title for the Supreme Being in any religion.

Why are flowers unhealthy in a bedroom?

Usually because they are known to "breathe" in the same way as we do, that is, they absorb oxygen and give carbon dioxide, and so it is thought they make the air impure for us to breathe.

Certainly this breathing of a plant might be held to be disadvantageous to the air in a room, but in reality a candle, gaslight, or other flame can, in a given time, produce carbon dioxide at a far greater rate than an oak tree, and, anyway, the quantity of carbon dioxide in a well-ventilated atmosphere is usually only about four parts in 10,000.

exercised before filling a bedroom or sickroom with flowers, and it would certainly not be advisable to sleep in an unventilated room containing flowers.

In pagan times, temples waggons with petroleum in dedicated to the gods were the 17th century, and it was built over rocks from which also in use by medical men issued "eternal fires," and in and varnish-makers through this way the sacred flame most of the 18th century.

“My government is deterred to conquer swollen shoot--I

By “GRAPHIC” LONDON CORRESPONDENT

THE Gold Coast will not become a “back number” but will remain a major producer “because of its climate, its soil and the skill of its people,” said Mr. Casely-Hayford, Minister for Agriculture and Natural Resources, at a conference of the Cocoa Chocolate and Confectionery Alliance.

The conference heard much of new areas like Java and the Solomon Islands which might become cocoa producers, but though prospects in such areas are good, there is little likelihood that they can produce cocoa on a great scale. World demand for cocoa, particularly at the right price, is constantly expanding and even to meet new demands increased cocoa production is necessary.

The speech of Mr. Casely-Hayford, Gold Coast Minister for Agriculture and Natural Resources, made a great impression on the Conference which passed a resolution thanking him for his attendance “as minister responsible for agriculture in the premier cocoa producing country in the world.”

Mr Casely-Hayford explained to the Conference the present position of swollen shoot control in the Gold Coast and emphasised the determination of the Gold Coast Government to conquer the disease. But he emphasised too that nothing could be done without the co-operation of farmers, and that it was on this that the Government was now concentrating its efforts.

But Mr. Casely-Hayford's visit was not confined to the cocoa conference. Few visitors to Britain have put in so many engagements in such a short time—the driver of his car is willing to be a witness to that he has visited research institutes, chocolate factories, government departments and the Ferguson tractor works, where he drove tractors and where he hopes Gold Coast farmers will come to learn how to operate and maintain such tractors. He feels that the

THE MAYOR of Freetown, Dr. E. H. Taylor Cummings, and members of the City Council gave a rousing reception to the Mayor of Lagos, Dr. A. B. I. Olorun-Nimbe, when he arrived at Freetown on a visit.

He was returning from the United Kingdom after attending the Festival of Britain.

Before entering the Wilberforce Memorial Hall, Dr. Olorun-Nimbe inspected a guard of honour formed by the Freetown Fire Force under the command of Commander Thorpe.

In a brief speech, the Mayor of Freetown said "today is a red-letter day and never before in the history of this city had two Mayors of West Africa met on such an occasion as this".

The Mayor of Lagos in reply recalled the cordial relationship which had existed between the people of Lagos and Freetown. He thanked the people for the recep-

"Shop at Sly Corner"

THE British Council Drama Group which early in the year gave successful performances of J. B. Priestley's "An Inspector Calls" are now to present Edward Percy's popular play in 3 acts "The Shop at Sly Corner."

Edward Percy, author of several stage thrillers gives you murder and blackmail to horrific effects in this exciting thriller. The sombre setting of an antique dealer's shop is the background, and the play has drama, humour and romance skillfully blended.

First presented in London in 1945 with Kenneth Kent in the main part of Descius Heiss, it ran for nearly two years and was one of the most successful of post-war thrillers.

The British Council Drama Group is to give two performances to the general public on October 12 and 13 at the King George V Memorial Hall, and the cast which consists of both Africans and Europeans, will have John Tully in the principal part of Descius Heiss, the antique dealer, Aline Brandenbourger as his sister Matilda Heiss, Alice Decker as his daughter Margaret, and other members of the cast will be Margaret Lawson, Clarissa Djoletto, Leo Riby Williams, Israel Sowah, Enoch Vanderpuye and Robert Amamoo. The play will be produced by Paul Hill.

SECRETARY FORDJUOH GOING TO LONDON

MR. L. K. FORDJUOH, secretary of the Ashanti Turf Club, will shortly leave Kumasi for London to study horse racing for six months.

THE WEAKER LOSES

By a Correspondent

Tonight, the weaker of the two fighters, London Kid and Jack Armstrong loses, and great will be the loss thereof. I am not counting the loss in terms of money but in terms of physical strength, if only the referee will not stop the fight before the ten rounds are over.

Jack Armstrong is known in the Sekondi-Takoradi area as the Joe Louis of the Gold Coast because of real knock-out and technical knock-out victories. He is said to have met and defeated every light and welterweight boxer in the Western Province, and has longed to meet Billy Wells, the triple titled champion of the Gold Coast.

London Kid, like Jack Armstrong, has the kick of the bull in his hands. I have seen him fight on two occasions, and admired his wonderful stamina. He is acclaimed the Fordjuoh said in an interview, "We want to ensure better racing in Kumasi. Races will start in Kumasi next September".

He said if all went well another man would go to the United Kingdom to study the electric totalisator.

BRITAIN PREPARES FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

THE British Amateur Athletic Board has issued a list of 79 men and 22 women who are nominated as "possibles" for the British athletic team in the 1952 Olympic Games at Helsinki.

The list includes the name of E. McDonald Bailey, the world famous West Indian sprinter, who visited the Gold Coast earlier this year.

The Board's coaching Committees are giving special coaching and training to the athletes who have been selected as prospective competitors.

YOUR TIPS FOR TODAY'S RACES

by Dzofoi Ghana

2.30 p.m. 1st. RACE
MANKRON STAKES 5 Furlongs

Dr. Nanka-Bruce's Red Pepper has run very consistently and put in a remarkably strong finish to beat Murielo by two lengths when the latter gave Red Pepper 10 lbs over this distance at the last Meeting and should have improved in the interim. Nana's Pride looks the most likely candidate to beat Dr. Nanka Bruce's Red Pepper. Me Too appears to be in very good form but I expect Nana's Pride to take honours.

Selects

1. NANA'S PRIDE
2. RED PEPPER
3. ME TOO

3 p.m. 2nd. RACE
AWUNAGA STAKES 6 Furlongs

Alif is reported to be at his best and is very well in at the weights. Malek will be a troublesome opponent as he is in a progressive stage. Montmichel has been penalised for doing the hat trick at the last Meeting but still has a chance, so has Fal.

Selects

1. ALIF
2. MIRAMAR
3. MONTMICHEL

3.30 p.m. 3rd. RACE
BEKWAI STAKES 6 Furlongs

I consider this event to be between Okplern and Me And You, the stable companions. Hyjojo is smart and can take an early lead. Golden Pledge runs well when in good company, and I place Happy Man and Sharif as the best alternatives to Noor who should have the measure of them all.

Selects

1. NOOR
2. OKPLERN
3. ME AND YOU may require a longer trip but it should be considered as outsider. So Is Life has a lot to do to win in the company, my fancy is Errand Boy.

1. ERRAND BOY
2. SO IS LIFE
3. DANHANSI

4.30 P.M. 5th RACE
NEPOM STAKES 1 Mile

This event will virtually be a fight amongst Buka, Me Too, Montmartre. That's That and Hope. Hope has stamina and has been placed 2nd and 3rd over longer distances. Buka is also regarded as a good stayer, so his prospects cannot be over looked.

Selects

1. THAT'S THAT
2. MONTMARTRE
3. BUKA

5.00 P.M. 6th RACE
OTUMFUO STAKES 1 Mile 2 Fur.

Bitter Sweet has not yet come up to his past record but must be seriously considered for this Race, and Messenger his stable companion may do the needful and continue his winning sequence if his stable companion fails. I pick Blue Patrick and Comrade as good outsiders.

Selects

1. BITTER SWEET
2. MESSENGER
3. COMRADE

5.30 P.M. 7th RACE
ASAMANKESE PURSE 1 Mile

This is a race of giants who have all won races over this distance with brilliant finishes. London is a doubtful runner and Royal Star is lame. Paris is an improving animal, and may confirm the running with Naar at the last Meeting.

ROY ANKRAH TO FIGHT

£500 for the fight. Joe McKean, contends that Ankrah accepted the £500 purse because he was anxious to win the title. Now that he has got it, he will take not less than £3,000.

"It is up to Clayton's manager to accept my terms. Ankrah has plenty of offers for fights, and will not care very much whether he fights Clayton again or not," said Mr. McKean.

"The Black Flash" is to fight the Italian Featherweight, Alororo Cerasini on October 23. He has also had an offer to fight the French champion, Francis Bonnardel in Cardiff eight days later.

Added to these is the fact that Mr. George Gainsford, Sugar Ray Robinson's manager has offered to take Roy to America.

It is therefore obvious that if any promoter in Britain wants Ankrah to fight for him, then he will have to make his offer attractive enough, and do it quickly.
